NEWS OF A DAY IN CAMDEN

At the meeting of the Camden Excise Commission to-night there will be rather a knotty problem to solve when the application to transfer the liquor license of Wladslaw Wilgocki, deceased, at 1135 Liberty street, to Mary Wilgocki comes up for consideration. The woman lived with Wilgocki for twenty years, bore him children and was generally looked upon as his wife. Now a daughter by a former wife declares the woman was not married to Wilgocki, and hence is not entitled to the license transference. Both sides have employed counsel.

For over a week Recorder Stackhouse has had a warrant in his office in Camden for the arrest of George Rhedemeyer, a member of the Park Commission, superintendent of the Harleigh Cemetery and one of the best known automobilists of the city. He is charged by George Evans, of Collingswood, with throwing tacks on Haddon avenue, near City Line, resulting in many bicyclists and automoists coming to grief. Saturday Rhedemeyer visited Recorder Stackhouse's office and demanded a hearing, but as Evans could not be found the case was postponed. He declares emphatically he knows nothing about the distribution of tacks along the road.

John M. Feltze, aged 22 years, was arrested at the home of his parents, at 904 Carbon street, Camden, yesterday as a deserter from the United States Navy. Feltze was asleep when he was surprised by Sergeants Schregler and Hyde. He submitted to arrest and was later taken to Newport by a detective. He is alleged to have taken French leave from the gunboat Constellation, now lying at Newport.
